Get Rid of UGLY PIMPLES this new easy way!

Amazing new medicated lotion developed by a doctor works wonders by clearing up complexion in one week or less!

DON'T let a bad complexion ruin romance, spoil your fun, cause you to be embarrassed, shy or unloved. If you suffer from acne, the common external cause of pimples among young people, try this wonderfully effective medicated lotion that was developed by a practicing physician to clear up his own teen age's complexion after other methods had failed. It has produced astonishing results for many thousands of others. It is GUARANTEED to help you or it won't cost you a single cent!

Doesn't Show On Your Face

Kenoplex is a skin-colored lotion (NOT a greasy salve or ointment!) that is quickly absorbed by the skin and gets right down in the pores where its healing and antiseptic ingredients can go to work. After you have applied it, there is no trace left on the surface. In fact, it makes a perfect powder base for girls and a refreshing after shaving lotion for men ... actually improves the tone of the skin! It is pleasant and easy to use — leaving your skin soft, clean and fragrant.

Boys and girls—if you have pimples on your shoulders or back, you can avoid embarrassment when they are exposed to view. For Kenoplex keeps your shoulders, arms, back and chest wonderfully free from pimples—without soiling shirts, without mussiness or greasiness!

Works in Six Out of Seven Cases!

An analysis of RESULTS taken from actual case histories proves that Kenoplex is successful in clearing up six of every seven cases of externally caused blackheads and pimples. It tones up the complexion generally, giving it a healthy, radiant glow.

Try This Now Method Without Risking A Penny!

Kenoplex is GUARANTEED to clear up your skin troubles or there will be NO COST to you whatsoever. If your happens to be the ONE extra-stubborn case out of seven which Kenoplex cannot help in one short week, it will cost you nothing to have tried it. Kenoplex is sent to you with that simple, positive GUARANTEE:

THE CONTEST

The most unusual kind of contest in the history of the school was announced that day. It was not a spelling, a reading or a writing contest. Nor was it for everyone in the school. It was a contest just for boys.

When the fellows at school were first told that there was such a thing going on, they wanted to know if it was no ball playing as sports. To their amazement the director said that the ball nine would not even be mentioned in the school business announcement. In mind there was a simple reason to be an open competition between a few boys and giving her a month to decide upon the winner.

A whoop swept the room at the contest was the major topic of conversation.

"What kind of dog is this?" asked Timmy indignantly. He ran his hand through his tangled hair and brushed up his trousers. "I haven't heard of a fashion contest for fellows."

"Well, it's not exactly fashion," Dickie said. "It's going to be more on neatness and personal appearance than the kind of clothes you wear."

Tommy looked down at his blue jeans thoughtfully.

"For a minute I was wonder ing if they expected me to wear a tuxedo to school."

"Say, that's not a bad idea. Al red exclaimed. "Listen, kids, we got to stick together. They can't expect to make fellas out of us! I have a great idea that will put a stop to this kind of nonsense."

The fellows listened carefully to what he had to say. They all agreed. And the next day Alfred, Dickie and Tommy showed up waiting to register as a single a business.

A red was sporting a top hat that looked as if someone had attempted to pay the bill of eating on her head. The remained was said to look at. Salaspead as it was, astride Alfred's flapper-out cars, the boys turned heads as they passed heroes in the Senior parade.

His friend Dickie had spent some dusty minutes in the attic before setting out for school. He had dashed out the back door before his mother could catch him. The rear path was muddy and the shoes looked like slabs of dried out pa ste enough. After them he sported a pair of big and others' most elegant shoes. He appears a on the mend in good taste in footwear or bright garnered self-consciously as he strutted along.

Timmy had pulled in inside of his shirt with cardboard to increase a fancy dress shirt. Around his neck he had tied a frayed rose about ribbon. The last one to wear that ribbon was none other than his dog, and he had been he taste bitter doing.

All three fellows were enjoying the stir they created among the kids.

"Like a look at the high society boys," the others ribbed them.

The girls put their noses into the air and turned away.

"Who did you want to get all dragged up for that so?" asked little Jean Jones innocently. "Are going to a state ment ball?"

"I am pursue explain it this way," what we are doing," said Alfred haughtily. Sliding the brim of his top hat with his finger in a jaunty manner. A cloud of dust rose from the hat the sheets powder.

"It's a marvelous idea." Dickie began as Alfred's sneezes thundered mostly in he hat. "The fellows are campaigning against this fashion craze for dresses it just isn't manly. We look So we give some to dragged out in these special duds to point fun at the whole idea. I bet those silly girls in the class talked the teachers into the thing. The contest just sounds like a silly girls' idea."

"I'm not sure we take to know what he is girl was who started all the idea," asked a mean voice behind them.

The fellows wheeled around to see none other than Mr. Macalbee, the principal!

"I am the 'silly girl' who put this contest into being," he admitted frankly.

At times, Mr. Macalbee's eyes could suddenly blaze fire. The heat from his stare now leaped out at the boys' cheeks and made them feel very warm indeed.

Alfred tried to hide his top hat behind his back. His hand stuck through the center of the firmer material. Fortunately, Mr Macalbee caught the piece that came flying toward him before it scored a hit.

When Tommy tried to put the cardboard from his shirt, the buttons popped in every direction. He rushed to pick them up and accidentally made a flying tackle at Dickie Dobson's legs moved in the air with the large white spots flapping like flags of surrender.

"You three boys, march!" Mr Macalbee commanded.

They trooped off Mr Macalbee leading them off like a general at the head of a conquered army.

After they had suffered a scolding that Mr Macalbee made no effort to spare them, he turned back and surveyed the boys. They hung their heads like whipped puppies.

"I'm sorry Mr Macalbee," Dickie apologised. "We were just having a little joke. We didn't mean to make you mad."

The other boys joined him in murmuring apologies.

"I'm not going to be too hard on you. Mr Macalbee finally said. "All of you have good school records, I find. Perhaps we didn't realise the kind I'm trying to be here to prepare you boys to be men and take your place in your per sonal appearance I like your own game also in it you'll appreciate the training. Good grooming can always bring special rewards. You'll find out."

He hesitated and for a moment the boys wondered what the next punishment for the crime was going to be. Maybe they would be forced to stay after school for the entire term or he would keep us baseball suspend. Surely Mr Macalbee would do something like that as them after he heard what they had said about his contest!

But surprisingly enough the principal smiled and told them they could leave.

"Is ... is that all, Sir?" asked Tommy.

"That is all for now," said Mr Macalbee. The real punishment of your practical joke will come in quarter month. You may leave now. And when you come to school from now on, come dressed properly and neatly."

When they got out they all breathed a sigh of relief.

"What do you think he meant about the real punishment coming in another month?" asked Tommy.

visibly.

"Isn't that the time the contest winner is announced?" Dickie said thoughtfully.

"I don't get it," said Alfred.

To make up for the rumpus they had caused, all three boys resolved to show Mr. Macalbee that they could make a good showing for themselves on their own. Each day, to their pleasure and delight, they took pains with their appearance, washing up before school time, and keeping even their shoelaces tied and neat looking at school time.

The day the winner of the boys' "fashion" contest was finally to be announced, Mr. Macalbee called all three of them into his office again.

"Here it comes," groaned Alfred. "Now he's going to deal out the punishment we didn't get, for sure."

But Mr. Macalbee was very pleased that morning and greeted them gruffly.

"I want to congratulate you boys for your good manners and personal appearance lately. You know the manners in the boy who is voted to win the school contest is a consideration, too. All three of you would have been in line for the award if it weren't for your previous record. The punishment I spoke to you about is something you will discover for yourself when the contest winner is announced."

And Mr. Macalbee was right. Jimmy Jones walked off with the grand prize, and the boys never did get over it.

That afternoon they sat glumly in the baseball field chatting over the events of the day.

"And to think one of us could have won!" Alfred groaned.

"And shared the prize!" Tommy moaned.

Dick sighed. "We could have taken turns all season long."

All of them could still see Jimmy Jones grinning when it was announced that he had won the contest. For the prize turned out to be a season ticket to the baseball games!

"Do you think they'll have another contest like that next year?" asked Alfred hopefully.

"I say no," the fellows told him, "keep your good ideas to yourself!"
